I have added some stuff to the scannernews website and thought you might be interested. I am going to try something here. First I would like everybody to introduce themselves and tell all of us a little about yourself so we can kinda get to know each other. So I will start. My name is John Jensen I am the list owner. Some of my other hobbies besides scanner monitoring is Storm Chasing, building websites and amateur radio. I am the founder of Storm Chasers Of America, I am also a member of Namacentral a pretty cool scanning group you can visit their website at http://www.namacentral.org. I am also a member of the INCHASE storm chase team. My amateur callsign is KB9KQN. I am also into fantasy sports via the internet. I have 2 scanners 1 base unit which is a PRO-2048 and a hand held which is the BC200XLT. Does any one own one of these that could scan in the manual and e-mail it to me?

Next On my list of thing to talk about list activity I would like to see all of you and I get this list moving so open up the discussion. Well gotta go some kids are vandalizing the Taco bell in the next town over from me and I am gonna listen to it. HAPPY SCANNING.

Thanks

Fla. Murder Suspect Releases 2 Kids

By VICKIE CHACHERE, Associated Press Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - A murder suspect holding five hostages in a suburban home released two of the four children Sunday as police tried to end the standoff.

Both children, an 8-year-old boy and a girl under 1, were in good health, although the boy was hungry and thirsty, Orange County Sheriff Kevin Beary said.

Beary said the suspect, Jamie Dean Petron, 41, had asked police to see the children reunited with their parents on live television after releasing them.

``Everybody is entitled to make mistakes, and he's made them and admitted to it,'' Beary said. ``But folks, this is a very positive thing.''

A woman in her 40s, a 16-year-old girl and an 11-month-old boy remained inside the home Sunday afternoon, police said. Earlier Sunday, police had fired a shot at Petron in an attempt to end the standoff but missed.

Petron took the family hostage Saturday after shooting an Orange County sheriff's deputy in the leg as the deputy tried to arrest him outside a nearby grocery store, police said. Petron is suspected in the Friday shooting death of a Pompano Beach convenience store clerk, authorities said.

Petron apparently did not know the family before he burst into their home in the Meadow Woods subdivision, south of Orlando. About 20 nearby homes were evacuated.

He had not threatened to harm anyone, Orange County sheriff's spokesman Jim Solomons said. Petron had demanded food and ``other things,'' but police did not release details.

Petron, who continued negotiating with police after a SWAT officer shot at him, has said someone in the house is injured, though police could not confirm whether it was true, Orange County sheriff's Sgt. Angelo Nieves said.

``I'm sure he wants the right thing done,'' Petron's attorney, Spencer Bryant Siegel, said Sunday after talking to his client by phone.

``Probably the biggest thing preventing him from coming out is the fear of the unknown,'' Siegel said.

The sheriff's office was receiving assistance from Petron's son, a Broward County sheriff's employee, who traveled to Orlando in an attempt to convince his father to let the hostages go.

On Saturday, Petron shot at a 28-year-old man as he escaped the home, grazing the man's head, authorities said. The man, identified by relatives as Norman West, was hospitalized in good condition.

West's mother escaped uninjured from the home immediately after Petron entered, authorities said.

West and his mother, Thelma Mills, were in the garage when Petron ran up to the house, according to Amanda Clarke, a relative.

``The garage was open, it was the safest place for him to run,'' Clarke said. ``She thought he was some ordinary citizen. She didn't know it was the law chasing him. She thought it was someone trying to hurt him.''

Clarke said once Petron got inside the house, Mills saw the gun. When Petron demanded she get him a phone, she ran out the garage door instead, Clarke said.

Clarke said the hostages are Mills' sister, who was visiting from New York with her children, and Mills' 16-year-old daughter and 11-month-old grandson.

Petron is a suspect in the Friday slaying of Jorge Trillos, 22, during a convenience store robbery in Pompano Beach. Trillos' boss, Samir Hantash, 48, was seriously wounded.

Deputies located Petron about noon Saturday at a grocery store, but Petron rammed a sheriff's vehicle and shot Deputy Scott Winters in the leg, authorities said. Winters, 26, was in stable condition.

Records show Petron was sentenced to 20 years in prison in 1986 for attempted first-degree murder, forgery and battery on a law enforcement officer. He was released from prison on Dec. 10, 1995.

Hello, my name is Jeff and I just was subscribed to these three lists. I have been asked by the moderators of two of the lists to introduce myself. I am a college student at Ferris State University in Big Rapids, Michigan. I am 23 years old and have been scanning since I was only 6. Well, that was when I seriously got into scanning and that's not including the many times that I would either turn on my dad's police scanner or my grandfather's scanner before then, but scanning is in my blood and I really enjoy it.
I currently have several scanners and they include the BC-235 trunktracker and the Pro-60 and two crystal scanners that I am trying to learn more about one being a four-channel Regency crystal scanner and another is an 8-channel crystal scanner. Right now, I am focusing my scanner energy on the Regency 4-channel crystal scanner. It is the one with the four yellow lights and the slide switches. My troubles are mainly with the crystals that I will post on later when I have more time.
Also, I am moderator for the blindscanner list which is for people with vision problems to talk about issues that they may have that are relating to scanning. This list is also opened to sighted that would like to help the blind scanner related issues. If you are interested in joining just send a blank E-mail message to blindscanner-subscribe@.... At any rate, I will talk to you all soon, and I am glad to be on the lists.

Hello to all on the list. It has been reported that on other lists that some freqs being used for a new astro trunked system at Western Michigan University have been active. This was over the labor day weekend, and I was wondering if anyone has hears any more activity on these freqs or if the trunked system is operational yet? Any information would be appreciated, and thanks in advance.

Hello to all on the list. I was just wondering if anyone on the list knows of any scanners that you can program via the web? What I mean is are there any scanners where you can program a frequency an and it sends that to the radio, and you can then monitor that frequency. I know that there are many short-wave radios that will allow you to do this. Any information would be appreciated, and thanks in advance.

Hello to all on the lists. I was wondering if anyone is using the Police Call Frequency Guide to look up frequencies, and if so what are you doing to make it accessible to you? The reason why I am asking is because I have a friend who is blind and is thinking of getting involved with scanner monitoring, and he mentioned to me that he has been unable to get a hold of that guide in accessible format I.E. tape or Braille.
I do know that this guide is available on CD-ROM, but I haven't used this guide since 1991, and I am sure that things have changed since then. The advice that I gave this person was to look up the information on the Internet,, but right now he doesn't have any kind of screen reader, and his family's computer is down. At any rate, any information would be appreciated on this and thanks in advance.

Well, this person has sighted members of his family and he could get freqs from the net that way when his computer comes back up, or at worst he could get them from school even. I think that his only reason for wanting Police Call was because he saw me with one in 1991. It kind of sucked because I had to find someone to read it to me as well because I am blind as well. I'll tell him what I have learned thus far, but what is the CD-ROM for for this guide?

I am new to this group. And would love to hear from anyone that has info for scanning in Ottawa, Ontario, Canada. I am also eager to learn of more scanning websites that especially offer audio to listen to across the world as well as in Canada. If you know of any sites that offer scanner audio or shortwave audio. Please direct it to me or go and join my email group. http://www.egroups.com/group/livescanneraudio there are plenty of links there and more are needed and wanted.

I would love to know if there are any sites out there that especially carry Canadian Scanner Audio.

Hello all~

I guess I will get the ball rolling by welcoming the new members as well. My name is John and I live in Utica NY, where I work as a housing & industrial security dispatcher. For monitoring, I use a Radio Shack pro-92 for the trunked systems in my area along with a Bearcat BC-60xlt for local conventional freqs and a Radio Shack pro-2023 for the more distant VHF/UHF freqs. I typically monitor PD/FD/EMS in Oneida, Madison, Herkimer, Oswego, Lewis, Fulton, Otsego and Montgomery Counties, with Saratoga and Washingon Co's when conditions are right :-) I am part of the IPN and the NYSING incident reporting groups, as well.

Now if only I could con my landlord into allowing me to put up a rooftop antenna!! ha ha!!

I am updating my frequency lists and will be posting them soon.

Best regards,

John

Dear MT;
The Michigan STATE Police have recently opened the application for scanner Permits to NON STATE RESIDENTS.
Prior to this, Tourists WERE considered CRIMINALS if they transported a scanner into Michigan...
NON permitted scannists both residents and NON residents are subject to 1 yr in Prison+ $500 fine.
(if caught with a scanner anywhere in the vehicle,even the trunk)
Hams Tech Class or above are exempt from MCL750.508

Please TAKE advantage of the POLICY and MSP's "hospitality"

EVEN if you or your spouse have NO intentions of Traveling to Michigan.....APPLY while the gettin's good.....
Ask your relatives....and freinds to apply also....
The more the merrier.....who knows what can happen if thousands of scannists or potential scannists....
Make the weight of a mass application felt in Michigan.....
They May seek an alternative to the current law.....
and seek a permitless version similar to NJ's http://www.afn.org/~afn09444/scanlaws/nj_scanr.html

The Permits applications are free and can either be obtained via phone (517) 336 6240 or by download.
http://www.mpscs.com/com-022.pdf
(application)
They are automatically renewed every three years if you keep your colective nose's clean...
Thanks for your help to all who wrote MSP and MI's Govt. offices....with interest in the scanner question in MI....
NOW please apply.....get the permit.....
Until the law is modified.....this is a welcomed middleground....
Please inform your scannist freinds
I'd ask your cat and dogs to apply also, but they need a social security number to do a criminal background check at MSP.....

Best of luck with the process, the paper work takes about 1 month for a reply.
Please e-mail me with your scanner permit numbers MBajek000@....
I would be interested in the amount of permits issued.
currently they are upto 334 so far this year...

thanks again
Mark Bajek

http://www.namacentral.org

The next meeting of CARMA will be at Phillies Pizza & Restaurant, IL Route 83 (Kingery Hwy) and 63rd Street in Willowbrook on December 2, 2000. Get there about 11:00 AM and the meeting starts at 1:00 PM.

The first meeting of the new Millennium will be on February 3, 2001 at a new location. This will be at Home Run Inn Pizza, IL Route 62 (Algonquin Road) just east of Arlington Hts. Road in Arlington Hts. Regular meeting rules will apply:

1) Everyone must buy a meal.
2) If you don't pay your check you will be shot.
3) Be good to the wait staff.

Home Run Inn agreed to our request for separate checks. Feel free to share pizzas if you wish, just make sure we don't stiff the restaurants. Let's see how HRI works out, if we like it and they like us we may use it as a regular location.

The CARMA Directors have researched various meeting locations. While it is doubtful that anyplace can surpass Phillies, we will entertain new locations as long as they meet our needs. It is anticipated that we will continue to hold at least every other meeting at Phillies. If other locations can not meet the standards set by Phillies we will meet there more often.

We are still in need of a volunteer to acquire a picnic site for this summer. The Picnic Chairman will need to acquire a permit (if needed for the location) and work with the board to arrange a suitable date.

All meetings start at 1:00 PM, lunch at 11:00 AM.

CARMA Meeting Dates: (All are Saturdays)

December 2, 2000, Phillies Pizza, Willowbrook IL
February 3, 2001, Home Run Inn Pizza, Arlington Hts. IL
April 7, 2001, Phillies Pizza, Willowbrook IL
June 2, 2001, TBA

I'm finding that alot of this skip is coming from Eastern TX. I tracked a few down to Harris County on 33.88/92/98. I'm also receiving the CHP daily on the 42's and 39's. Some of this is very strong. 39.50 particularly as the say the Golden Gate Bridge patrols.

My name is Scott Jacobs,,,I live in Latrobe PA, I'm a trained SKYWARN spotter for the NWS,
Scanning has been a Hobby of mine for over 20 years now (since I was 10)

I own Six Bearcats currently... BC9000Xlt,
BC895Xlt, BC235Xlt, SC200,BC800xlt
And my wonderful Christmas gift--Brand
New BC780XLT 500 ch. Uniden Scanner.
John I think you would Love this new unit,
For us WX-geeks it has the (SAME) technology, with a Large readout of what type of Severe Warning on the Alpha screen, very loud Alert siren that will scare your neighbors!
I enjoy monitering All the public safety bands, Ham radio, etc..
I recently turned in a Application at our 911 Communications center, hopefully
I can get a job in that field.

I am bothered by the news of Digital Encryption Freqs coming to PA before 2004...Many many local Fire depts. refuse to go to the new systems...They can't afford it since most of them are volunteers.
I think it's very important that the public not be shut off from situations that can be dangerous and life-threatning!
I have heard in other States where they have gone digital and the complete system going down! during Emergencys not being able to communicate scares me.

I'm hoping my scanner doesn't go silent.
It's nice to see that you've created this list, I look forward to reading other posts.

Thanks

Bob, I briefly surfed your site, and found there are a lot more trunked systems here in Michigan than I imagined, although few of them appear to be in my area, as I figured. Other than the Michigan State Police disappearing off the lo-band VHF, due to switchover to the 800Mhz Motorola Astro system, there haven't been any other's disappear from the airwaves here in Kent County. I will visit again, as time permits. My compliments, it looks like a lot of talent and effort went into this site.

Hi, everyone! I just wanted to introduce myself. I'm Becky, I'm a military wife, my husband is retiring from the Air Force in February, I have 3 sons, and I live in Colorado Springs, CO. I enjoy monitoring all the C Springs police, emt, and fire channels..I have a BC200XLT, a Pro90 Trunk Tracker, a Pro39 Hyperscan, and a BC2500XLT. I'm subscribed to all the scanner groups I could find. I also like dancing, swimming, chatting online, reading, movies, cooking, and being a wife and mommy. Anyone have any good Colorado Springs frequencies? I'll trade what I have with you. Drop me a line if you want!

Welcome Becky! Got a chance to tour the Air Force Academy years ago.. what a beautiful place. I don't have any freq. for CO but if you or anyone else on the list needs any western VA freq. I'll be glad to help. I might as well as introduce myself also since this is my first posting to the list. I am a dispatcher for Alleghany County Sheriff's Office in the western part of VA. All of my scanners are Radio Shack and include the Pro 60 and Pro 2022. I have been scanner listening for 30 + years, the first scanner I had was a Bearcat III. I will try to write more often as my work permits.

I got for x-mas and what I am wondering is when the nws does there weekly test does the weather alert box with same retain the message that was sent until I get home so I know it was activated or does it go back into standby and I never know if it was activated. Thanks for the help in advance Happy Scanning and 73's.

JOHN...

The Weekly Test text is only on the message screen for 15 minutes, it then goes back to normal stand-by mode.
Unlike the Watch/Warning that will display until expiration.

Our test- schedule is every Wed. @11:15am in western PA

Hello everyone,

Gotta a couple of questions for you.

1) What database vendors ie: Policecall,Percon do you all use?

2) What database programs do you use for your personal databases?

3) Are there any cool free ones you use for either of the above question and are there any database programs that are orientated torwards scanning.

Here are my replies:
1) I use policecall V2 and Scannerbasexe(I wish this one was update more often though).

2) I am using Window Work 4.0 for mine.

I recently purchased the Police Call 2001 CD rom scanner directory. It has all of the volumes of PC on the disc for only $34.99 at Radio Shack. That is much better than paying $14.00 per book of Police Call. For a review written by Rich Wells on the CD, go to his web site which contains tons of scanner info.

Hello everyone,

Just to let you know I am getting rid of my egroups list or should I say yahoogroups list I am not very keen on the having to get a yahoo id and I know if any of you want to manage your list you will have to get a id also. Now I have a list called psm@... and if you go to http://www.qsl.net/kb9kqn you may join if you wish. Now if any one want to take over this list e-mail me and I will change it over to you gladly and if I get no reply by midnight on saturday night I will be deleting this comunity on yahoo.

Well seeing that there are a 100 members on this list I am not going to delete the list like I said I was last night. Now I am still not cool about the yahoo id thing so here is what I suggest. 1) I will need a moderator to help me out. 2) If any of you are not cool with the yahoo id thing then I or a moderator will edit your info for you. So if you are interested in being a moderator let me know and I only need one of you to help out with this task. Your job will consist totally of helping me out with updating folks info. The other thing is the moderator will have to be willing to have a yahoo id as it is the only way they let you in the website. So let's get discussing scanner monitoring. The psm@... list still exsist and I am looking for editors in various catagories so check that site of if you have time at: http://www.qsl.net/kb9kqn

Okay you are one of the few that does not care that you have to have a yahoo id but many do not want it and never will want it. The only reason why I have it now is because of managing my groups. But so be it but I am leaving a option for folks that do not want to get one. So Now I ask again let's get back to scanning discussion. Thank you.

From: John Jensen KB9KQN

Hello Everybody,

First off I would like to welcome all the new members that have joined please introduce yourself to the list.

Next I would like to here what kind of equipment and antenna's you are all using and maybe what your general listen area is on your scanner.

I use the PRO-2048 with a dual band ham antenna and listen to the public safety bands for the most part. I am in the process of re-setting up my scanner using police call cd-rom.

Here is another question for all of you. How do you set up your banks. Just police and fire in seperate banks or do you set your scanner up by frequency order.

Let's hear from you folks and get this list going about scanning in general.

Hey everyone, my name is Sean, I go by the handle Erystelle on the net, I have a Realistic Pro-37 200 ch. scanner that is modified for cellular, which I listen to on occasion, right now I am just running the regular antenna. I will be putting up a full band antenna in the summer as well as a j-pole for my ham ht. I live in the Tulsa, OK area with my wife and cat. i am just collecting all the freq's in the area right now as we ahve not lived here very long. I just got my ham license in Nov. and am saving for some new ham equipment. I listen to Police, Fire and Aircraft as well as Public Works. Anyone in the Tulsa area may find me on the local repeaters for the ham bands. My call sign is KD5MFQ.

Thats it for now.

Hi all, I am just wondering if there are any other pages out there besides dxing.com that has technical terms related to scanning or trunking? I am doing some research for school here, and any information would be appreciated, and thanks in advance.

First, are you trying to monitor a Motorola trunking system?
If not, then it shouldn't be in MO mode.

Second, you need to have the bank "OPEN" instead of closed, if you do not have the talk groups programmed for the system.
It should stop on the frequency in OPEN mode, but won't stop in CLOSED mode unless it sees the proper talk groups.

Hopefully I'm right and you can understand.... look in your manual for more info on OPEN/CLOSED.

Thanks, I was just going to ask if Radio Shack had anything similar to Uniden, but maybe I did, but at any rate, I have the answer now. Do you know what format these are in? Also, if anyone has or knows of any other manufacturers who have on-line manuals either for viewing on the web or downloading let me know, and thanks in advance.

Hi Kevin,

Radio Shack may still have some of the units for the 2004. I got one for an old Pro-43. It was about $15.00, In fact they sent me 2 of them instead of the 1 I ordered.

They also had the upper and lower case for my Pro-2006, and the LCD display module.

Give them a try.

Good luck

Ron

(Edneyville, North Carolina-AP) -- Police say a four-year-old North Carolina girl has accidentally shot her 16-month-old sister to death.

Police say the older girl dropped a loaded pistol that belonged to their father.

The gun went off, sending a bullet through her sister's chest. Police believe the girl found a kitchen stool and climbed up to grab the .357-caliber handgun from the top of an entertainment center.

The toddler was pronounced dead at the scene.

157. New Scannist

Yahoo group: scanner-fans

From: ac5vq
Topic: 157 Message: 157

This is my first post to this group but hope it won't be the last. I'm sorta new at my hobby (scanning) so I have a few questions. Here goes.

1. What would be the best brand of continuous general coverage receiver/ scanner should I be looking to purchase in the $300 - $500 range? It doesn't have to be new but would like to have one that covers as wide a range of frequencie as possibe.

2. I live in the northeast part of Louisiana. Besides the normal police, fire, etc. local freqs, what other freqs (military, gov. etc) could possibly be in my range to scan?

3. Barksdale AF base is about 100 miles from me in Shreveport, La. Would that be a good place to start?

4. Does anyone know of a scanners mailing list for this part of the country (namely deep south and Louisiana area)?

5. And finally....anyone got any info on Mobile data transmitters for police squad car computers? Freqs, equipment, etc.

Let me state that I am a ham radio operator (AC5VQ) and DO NOT intend on using any of this info to commit or assist in any type of criminal activity. IT'S JUST CURIOSITY FOLKS.....PLEASE DON'T FLAME ME.

Sorry about taking up so much bandwidth but will cut it down from now on. Thanks for any help,

Charlie - AC5VQ

The bus barely moved between West Roadway and Ontario and Carnegie and Ontario. Then to add insult to injury, the ramp to 1-71 from Ontario was closed. I think a semi and a bus were in a fender bender so they closed off the whole ramp right during RUSH HOUR. Of course, everybody starts to panic and leaves work early so that adds to the mayhem. So the bus I was on had to take a detour through the near East Side to get to I - 490 to get to I - 71. Then it was put put along I - 71 between 20 to 40 miles an hour all the way out to Strongsville. Then get home and shovel the DOUBLE drive and then the moment that I was done start all over again.

When the Snow started to fall, yesterday, (Around 16:00 hours?), you could barely see from the Binhgam Building's windows to the West Side of the Flats. This is NOT normally the case during NORMAL conditions. On gets a real good clear view of the Western flats. I guess this is what happens when we have a mild Winter and Lake Eire DOES NOT freeze over like it should. We must of recieved about 2 to 4 inches of Snow, in Strongsville, last night.

I wonder if this will be a trunked system. If so, will other states try to do this? Also, is it possible that this is a fore runner to a NATIONAL trunked system? I mean, some Cell phone companies already make it possible to have national calling plans. So why NOT a national trunked Public Safet system. Eh?

The Capital Wireless Integrated Network (CapWIN) project is a partnership between the States of Maryland and Virginia and the District of Columbia to develop an integrated transportation and criminal justice information wireless network. This unique project will integrate transportation and public safety data and voice communication systems in two states and the District of Columbia and will be the first multi-state transportation and public safety integrated wireless network in the United States. The project will have national implications in technology transfer including image/video transmission and the inclusion of transportation applications in an integrated system. National observers will be able to monitor the progress and development of the system during the evolution of the project. This project can potentially build a foundation for networks throughout the United States and other countries. The project will be done in two phases: initial strategic planning phase currently underway (year 1) and the implementation phase (years 2 and 3).

A pilot test will be initiated during the strategic planning phase of the project. The pilot will include a minimum of six, and up to fourteen, in-vehicle systems that will allow messaging between police vehicles in Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D.C.; transportation vehicles in Maryland and Virginia; and local fire vehicles. These mobile platforms and other developed transportation and public safety systems will be operationally tested during this project. Ultimately, a network will be implemented that supports multiple in-vehicle platforms. In the second year of the project the goal is to have at least 30 vehicles communicating on the network using multiple mobile data platforms. These will include additional state and local police, fire, and EMS vehicles as well as state DOT service patrols. The goal for the third year will be to, at a minimum, double the year two-vehicle deployment.

A strategic plan is being developed with input from transportation and public safety agencies (federal, state, local) serving the Washington Metropolitan area to determine the following: functions needed, system requirements, security requirements, information priorities, evaluation methodology, a multi-year phased implementation strategy, and a long-term business plan that will address ongoing operations and maintenance.

Citizens, this is what happens when (some) PARANOID public service personnel (Police, Fire and EMS) and government officials, both elected and non-elected feel a perceived need to keep their actions secret from their boses, the general public, so that they may escape the well needed scrutiny of the very people that they are bound to serve and protect. I defy any of these agencies to provide any direct evidence that monitoring these agencies for time immemorial has resulted in just "ONE" injury to to the Police, Fire or EMT/Paramedic person OR aided or abetted the escape of a criminal from detection. How would the world have ever survived till now without using the tactics these government employes now desire?? These folks are from the "Seige Mentality Bunch" who just do not want to be scrutinized by those they serve! Having been a Law Enforcement Officer for some years, I know whereof I speak.. I believe that if you want the public's cooperation in using their eyes and ears to prevent crime and/or help direct public service personnel to the incident, you would be better off supplying the citizens with the scanner radios free of charge. If the proposals of the government in question persist, YOU always have the avenue of "RECALL" of the elected officials responsible and ELECT officials who will use their heads for something other than to just hold a hat thereto. The power of the Citizenery is far, far more powerful than all of the Government figures put together. Ever heard of the "REFERENDUM?? Please wake up before we live in more of a Police State than already exists. AND thanks to all of the hard working, SENSIBLE public servants who also know whats going on here.

There are cities in the U.S.A. where the police/fire departments actually hand out scanner radios to the citizens so that they may help prevent crime or at least REPORT same the appropriate agency. Only someone with blinders on would suggest that which is taking place to be beneficial rather than just plain idiocy. Respectfully, Jack. (Tconduce@P...)

I have noticed that one DOES NOT need to program all the frequencies for an L.T.R. T.R.S. and you can still get the whole converssation (QSO). So it would seem that L.T.R. Talk Groups are assigned to specific Frequenciee/Logic Channel Numbers.

Sometimes a dispachter will have a different T.G. then the mobile units will.

Also, mobile units will, at times be assigned Talk Groups specific to that mobile unit but they can still talk to the dispatcher and vice-a-versa.

Can Talk Groups from one LOgic Channel Number/Frequency
talk to Talk Groups on other Logic Channel Numbers / frequencies?

I hate to burst your bubble but when they were in Analog Mode, they were in the VHF Low Band, VHF Mid Band, and the 460 Band, and the 422 - 424 band. Thus there were no Talk Groups just channels/frequencies.

I don't think that there are any scanners out that will go that high that are cheap anyway. I think also that those 2.4 GHZ phones will be digital or at least most of them. The 900 MHz phones they said we would vever hear, but of course manyare analogue.

I noticed that there is a STV Base 6, or Service To Police Talkgroup on Strongsville's EDACS Service Department's Talkgroup listing.

Would this be 1312 because my Pro-92B will NOT take the AFS TALKGROUPS.

Thanks.

Any and all info would be appreciated

Right now there is NO scanner that will receive them.

DA 02-2502

October 3, 2002

REDESIGNED ULS LICENSE SEARCH DEBUTS THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 2002.

Improved Software, Innovative New Features, and Expanded Search Capabilities available for all Wireless Services

As part of a continuing effort to strengthen the Universal Licensing System (ULS), the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau (WTB) announces the debut of an extensive redesign of the ULS License Search. Access the new functionality and enhanced search capabilities via the Search Licenses link on the ULS homepage, http://wireless.fcc.gov/uls.

The new layout and improved functionality of ULS License Search provides FCC customers more search options, better control of search criteria, and faster, easier navigation of displayed licensing information. Enhancements include customizable views of locations and frequencies associated with a license, printable page formatting, printable reference copies of authorizations, and a host of other new features which improve performance and provide greater access to the WTB's license database. All of the new features of ULS License Search were designed with the needs of ULS customers in mind-we listened to your comments in focus groups, letters, calls, and emails.

For information on specific License Search features, please see Appendix A.

Note to Users Who Bookmark ULS License Search: When the redesigned ULS License Search is deployed Thursday, October 17, 2002, the current ULS License Search will no longer be available. Please update your bookmark or favorites list with the new URL.

For more information about the issues covered in this public notice, contact ULS support at the locations listed below:

FCC Technical Support Hotline: 202-414-1250 (TTY 202-414-1255), or via e-mail at ulscomm@.... Contact the Technical Support Hotline about questions concerning computer access to ULS, your FRN, uploading files, or submitting attachments. The hotline is available Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Eastern Standard Time (except federal holidays). In order to provide better service to ULS users and ensure the security of the electronic filing system, all calls to the hotline are recorded.

ULS Licensing Support and Forms Information: 1-888-CALLFCC (225-5322), select option #2 or 717-338-2888. E-mail questions may be sent to ulshelp@.... Contact Licensing Support with questions about which application purpose(s) are appropriate for a particular filing, what information is being requested on a ULS form or schedule, or any other ULS-related licensing matter. ULS Licensing Support is available Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time (except federal holidays).

Appendix A

New Features for ULS License Search

Here are just a few of the new ULS License Search features:

Speed and Compatibility-The new search not only features a bold new Web design, but improved system software. New Java Server Pages technology and HTML forms dramatically increase the speed of searches and cut the time required to load search results pages. Many browser/operating system compatibility issues have also been eliminated.

Direct Access to Information-One of the guiding principles for the redesign of License Search has been to minimize the need to "drill down," i. e., follow link after link to reach the information you need. Many of the new features, such as navigation tabs and menus for the license detail pages, were designed to provide you with direct access to the information in our database. License detail screens have also been designed with accessibility in mind.

New Basic and Advanced License Search Pages-ULS License Search has been divided into a Basic and Advanced search-similar to commercial search engines available across the Internet. The search fields most often used by ULS customers can be easily selected on the Basic Search page, eliminating the need to read through the entire list of ULS search fields. If you require a more detailed set of search criteria, select Advanced Search.

Service Specific Searches-New service specific search screens reduce your work and allow you to enter search criteria only pertaining to licenses within a specific wireless service. Service Specific Searches are available for Amateur, Aircraft, Commercial and Restricted, GMRS, Ship, and Market-Based licenses.

No Limit on Search Results-There is no longer a limit to the number of records returned by License Search. Previously this limit was set at 3,000.

License Search Detail Screens-The ULS License Search detail screens have been designed to make finding information on licenses straightforward. New navigation tabs across the top of the screen provide you with instant access to general and administrative information, antenna and transmitter locations, frequencies, and other data. The detail pages also provide a number of custom features for finding and organizing information:

Click on the file number of an application or automated letter to access those records directly in a new browser window.

Display all Locations for a license, or ‘jump" to specific locations, using navigation tools at the top and bottom of every Locations page.

Display detailed Frequencies data in different views, customized for each radio service.

Quickly access all frequencies associated with a given location, or click a convenient jump menu to "filter" frequencies by locations.

Improved Geographical Search-Find a location by searching around a geographical center point. Specify the point by state and county; by street address, city, state, or zip code combinations; or by latitude and longitude. Combine an advanced search with a geographical search to display results geographically.

Printable Page-A new Printable Page button appears at the top of every search results and detail screen, allowing you to print the contents of the page pre-formatted for most common printers.

Reference Copy-A new Reference Copy button appears at the top of every license detail screen, allowing you to print an unofficial copy of the license.

Redesigned Query Download-Click the new Query Download button at the top of any search results screen, enter your e-mail address, and ULS will send the results of your search to you by e-mail in a pipe-delimited text (*.txt) file. Import this file into your favorite spreadsheet application.

I have recently discovered that my Pro 95 isn't being used as often as it should. Since I purchased it for $250 at Radioshack in November, it hasn't done much but sit on the shelf. I would like to see if anyone needs a Pro 95. If you are interested, you can make me an offer at the email address of Sidheasraiperi@.... Just put "Offer for scanner" in the subject line. A few things you should know are that it is almost brand new and works like a charm. The only thing wrong with it is that I have cats and they chewed the antennae a little. This has not affected the quality of the reception whatsoever, and can be replaced easily for a mere $20 I am told. Please keep in mind what I payed for it when making an offer. Thanks to anyone who replies and have a good Xmas!!

Hi,

I just downloaded a peice of software called Softscanner, from http://www.softscanner.net

It claims to be a Scanner only you dont need the hardware. It also has ACARS/NAVEX decoder built in. It seems to run well even over a 56K dialup internet connection.

I have listened to many pilots and towers and police, fire and 911 channels live. My question is: is this real or phony, as I have no radio hardware attached to my PC.

I am waiting for a breaking news story to come on tv, so I can tune Softscanner to relevant police or fire channel and see whats going on. That way I will be able to tell if it really is live transmissions I am getting on my PC.

I am sorry if I sound a bit dense, but I am new to this kind of thing.

13-year-old finds police radio, uses it to let dispatcher know
By Rocky Mountain News
February 17, 2004

A Highlands Ranch teen found a Denver police radio Monday and used it to let the cops know he had it.

The 13-year-old boy found the radio about 1 p.m. in the yard of a home in the 8900 block of South Bermuda Run Circle.

He turned on the radio and told a police dispatcher that someone had thrown it out of a sport utility vehicle, and that he had thought it was a walkie-talkie.

"He got on the air and started communicating with one of our dispatchers," police spokeswoman Virginia Lopez said.

The boy was polite, correcting a dispatcher only once - when he was referred to as "ma'am."

"I'm a little kid," the boy said.

Denver police and Douglas County sheriff's officials were working to retrieve the radio, Lopez said. Police officials hadn't been notified that a radio was missing, and investigators were trying to determine who it belonged to.

"We are currently looking into how this radio got out of the City and County of Denver . . . (and) into the hands of someone who shouldn't have it," Lopez said.

283. Company offers 'jammers' to silence cell phone noise

Company offers 'jammers' to silence cell phone noise
Devices are illegal in United States

By KEN BELSON
N.Y. TIMES NEWS SERVICE

First, the world fell in love with cellular phones, and hardly took any notice of their annoying side.
Now, the complaints about cell phones seem almost as common as the phones are: They shatter the quiet in the worst times and places; their users can be rude or dangerously distracted, and so on. And some of the aggrieved are deciding that the usual appeals for considerate behavior aren't solving the problem.

Enter the jammer. People who would use technology to fight technology, by installing radio-jamming equipment that keeps cell phones from working nearby whether the phone user likes it or not, got a significant boost last month in France. The minister of industry, Patrick Devedjian, ruled that theater and cinema owners could use jammers there as long as they did not stop calls to the French equivalent of 911.

The ruling had little immediate effect, because there is no jammer on the market that can permit emergency calls while blocking the rest. But the symbolic importance was huge: Devedjian gave a significant government sanction to an act bound to infuriate phone users and the cell phone industry alike - the deliberate private creation of cell phone dead zones.

Devices that radiate signals that interfere with the public airwaves, including cell phone jammers, are illegal in the United States. But the companies that sell them say that hasn't stopped Americans from importing hundreds of jammers. Some are intended to eliminate nuisances to the public, as in restaurants and theaters, but other motives appear to be at work as well.

"More and more employers are getting frustrated with their employees" who spend work time chatting on their cellphones, said Michael Menage, the owner of Global Gadget UK, a British company that sells Asian-made jammers over the Internet, including to Americans. "We tell them it is illegal, but they are so at the end of their tether, they buy them anyway," Menage said. "The moral side of it is up to them."

Hotel companies, whose revenue from guest-room phone use has plummeted since cell phones became common, are said to be interested as well, and there are reports that a European chain has bought jammers.

Neither Menage nor other vendors would agree to name any companies that use them. But the devices are cheap enough - as little as $250 - that even tiny companies can buy them.

It is easy enough to see why a theater might want to keep phones from ringing in the audience, but the issue of cell phones in the workplace is more complex. Many companies depend on cell phones to keep employees accessible and working while at home, on the road, or even on vacation. But as the line between company time and private time has blurred, employees also have come to depend on them to stay in touch with their private lives while at work, whether checking up on the kids, making dinner plans or just chatting with friends.

"Companies have asked their people to work 24/7, check their e-mails, check their BlackBerries, to be on the cell phones during their commutes," said John Challenger, the chief executive of Challenger, Gray & Christmas, which consults on employment issues. "If companies try to cut out personal use, they'll have a war on their hands."

Even so, more than half the companies surveyed by the Society for Human Resource Management said they have a policy on workplace cell phone use or are planning one. Some ban camera phones out of fear of industrial espionage; others, worried about liability, ban cell phone use while driving.

A few go further. TRW Automotive, an auto parts maker, forbids all personal electronics, including phones, beepers, PDAs and radios, in its factories. Stacie Helms, an employee relations manager at the company, said the idea was to eliminate distractions, both for safety and productivity reasons. "There would be a temptation to leave the line to answer the cell phone," she said.

A company that relies on a jammer instead of a policy cannot say so publicly, of course, but it is unlikely to be caught. Users cannot tell whether a "no service" message is caused by jamming or just the usual spottiness of signal coverage. The government has never prosecuted anyone for using a jammer. (The fine would be $11,000.)

People push back against the annoying sides of new technology in many ways, from answering machines to spam filters. A new device called TV-B-Gone can be used to turn off almost any television.

But cell phones are different. Stuffed with the phone numbers of friends and family, they become constant companions and instant conduits to the owner's closest confidants. That helps explain why users often react so defensively when asked to stop talking, and why companies resort to jammers.

"There's an attitude toward a radical individualism about expression and ownership that has now extended to technology and new media," said Sherry Turkle, the director of the Initiative on Technology and Self at MIT. "Once people identify the cell phone as a part of themselves, they're reluctant to give it up."

Acft 889 (unk airlines) is up on 131.175 in a phone patch to Medlink regarding a passenger who has just had a stroke or other similar event on the acft. A nurse, who is aboard as a passenger, is rendering assistance. The individual is thrashing about so wildly that they are unable to get vital signs. EMS is going to meet acft of arrival, which is approx 20 min away, possibly Tampa IAP.

The prices seem excellent to me; they are half of what he has just paid for them new. Remember, these are transmitters as well as receivers.

Once at high altitude, lost sight and began getting severe pain; pain is 9 out of possible 10. Flight attentdant says she is RN.
Advice is to put passenger on oxygen and administer Tylenol.

Pittsburgh (KPIT), but they are considering either returning to Orlando or going into Atlanta for maintenance.
Right after takeoff they got an "Engine right system failure" alert. Lost auto-throttle. No power interruptions though; everything stable. But they are no-takeoff reports so will not be able to take off again until corrected.
Pilot is reading off the fault message numbers, e.g., 732-142, etc. They are going through a checklist. They have lost fuel flow display and other displays.
They decide to continue on to Pittsburgh.

Both the pilot and ground are amazed that the problem is affecting both radios. Pilot cannot continue to destination this way because "only approach

Authorities say a Bonita Springs, Florida man whose car looked like an unmarked police cruiser is behind bars.
According to the Collier County Sheriff's Office, a deputy stopped 20-year old Nathaniel Fine on Saturday and reported that Fine's car was outfitted with red lights in the back, a police scanner and an expandable baton.
There was also a Massachusetts State Police patch found inside the car.
Fine told the officer he wasn't trying to pull people over.
The officer also found marijuana in the car.
Fine was arrested on charges of possessing marijuana and a radio scanner tuned to law enforcement frequencies.
Florida law prohibits the use of scanners in a car unless the operator has a radio license or the operator's job requires the use of a scanner in the car.

NOTE: It is unfortunate that my local mullet-wrapper newspaper chose to entitled the above item "Man arrested for having police scanner in car."
That is like saying OJ was arrested for carrying a knife.
